

Continually raising standards to meet market expectations

Year round, we work with growers and customers to ensure that consistently high quality, Identity Preserved soybeans are grown and delivered. We honour our customers' demands that they receive the exact variety, quality, and purity of food grade soybeans that they require and we can supply the documentation to prove it. This is critical to market success for everyone.

St. Clair Agri Services utilizes our strengths

- close relationships with farmers,
- proximity to key growing regions, and
- clean and efficient facilities to offer our customers direct access to high quality, food grade IP soybean varieties.

We understand the need for specifics in IP soybeans

Specific Variety    Specific Quality    Specific Purity    Specific Documentation

From seed through to shipping, St. Clair Agri Services ensures Identity Preserved (IP) quality every step of the way. We understand and respect the demands of the international marketplace and strive every day to meet and exceed those requirements.

The food grade soybeans St. Clair Agri Services supplies are of exceptional quality. We maintain a strict tradition of providing soybean crops that are:

- planted in the most arable land;
- managed by the most progressive farming techniques;
- harvested, sorted and distributed through state-of-the-art, high standard facilities; and
- traceable through a detailed audit system that tracks soybeans from field to final market.

From field to end-user: Soybeans delivered with clean, responsible efficiency.

St. Clair Agri Services is certified under the Canadian Identity Preserved Recognition System (CIPRS) with its mandate to provide assurance of specific quality attributes to markets around the globe. We can provide a certified audit trail that guarantees that the IP process has been honoured, with varietal identity and genetic purity maintained. We continually raise our standards to meet changing and ever increasing world standards for food grade soybeans.

Food grade IP soybeans headed for Asian, European and other world markets are handled through St. Clair Agri Services' integrated processing facilities. Each facility utilizes high capacity storage and cleaning capabilities for quality IP assurance.

St. Clair Agri Services can also meet customer needs for bag and bulk container shipments, as well as bulk export shipments by rail or vessel.

St. Clair Agri Services has access to primary grain elevators located in the heart of the Great Lakes area with instant access to the St. Lawrence Seaway and on to world markets.

Long term relationships are built on sound business practices.

Believing that how we do business is as important as what we do, St. Clair Agri Services adheres to strict ethical standards. You can depend on us to honour our obligations every time.

Whether you speak to one of our representatives from across your city or across the globe, you can be sure that our respected grain merchants will listen closely to your needs and ensure that every step is taken to fulfill your specific requirements.
